Chandler-Gilbert Community College Awards

CGCC recognized by Carnegie Foundation for community engagement

The Carnegie Foundation for the Advancement of Teaching awarded Chandler-Gilbert Community College (CGCC) with its Community Engagement classification, a significant and competitive recognition that highlights dedication to community service. This is a renewal of CGCC’s initial 2006 designation. CGCC is one of only three Arizona schools and just 361 colleges and universities nationwide that currently hold the designation. Mesa Community College (MCC) also received the designation. Between MCC and CGCC, more than 5,000 students performed upwards of 115,000 hours of community service last year. Read more.

President’s Higher Education Community Service Honor Roll recognizes CGCC for eighth straight year

CGCC was named to the 2014 President’s Higher Education Community Service Honor Roll for the eighth consecutive year. The college is among only 766 higher education institutions nationwide, and among only four in the State of Arizona. The recognition highlights the role colleges and universities play in solving community challenges, and helps students pursue a lifelong path of civic engagement. Read more.

CGCC named Veteran Supportive Campus by state agency

Chandler-Gilbert Community College (CGCC) was named a Veteran Supportive Campus by the Arizona Department of Veteran Services (AZDVS) in February.

The Veteran Supportive Campus program was established by the Arizona state legislature in 2012 as a means of establishing measurable, meaningful criteria for determining if a school is indeed “veteran-friendly.” Among the eight criteria are requirements to provide resource and study centers, to conduct training for faculty and staff, to survey veteran students annually, and to offer veteran-specific orientation sessions. Learning Communities selected as CGCC Innovation of the Year

The proposal “Reinventing Developmental Education Learning Communities” was selected at the 2014 Innovation of the Year at CGCC. As a high-level summary, a team of CGCC staff and faculty renovated the CGCC developmental education learning community offerings in reading, mathematics and English which were implemented in fall 2013. The renovated offerings integrated with student success courses as well as classes in psychology, sociology, English and humanities. Data demonstrated that students in these classes had the same or higher success rates and retention rates than students in stand-alone classes. More notably, evaluation of CCSSE results indicate students in developmental learning communities have statistically significant higher student engagement than students in stand-alone classes in five areas: active and collaborative learning, student effort, academic challenge, student-faculty interaction and support for learners. Male minority chapter at CGCC wins diversity award, Chapter of the Year and Advisor of the Year

The Maricopa County Community College District (MCCCD) Diversity Advisory Council recognized the CGCC chapter of the Male Empowerment Network (MEN) with its 2015 award.

MEN, a district initiative, was formed to increase retention of the minority male student population. The CGCC MEN chapter has become a model for many of the sister college chapters and won Chapter of the Year in 2014 as well as 2015.

The CGCC chapter consistently connects students to support systems necessary for student success, including assistance with registration, advising, mentoring and the collaboration of philanthropic efforts with student clubs.

Chapter advisors Tony Little and Jill Wendt were selected as 2015 Advisors of the Year. Read more.

Monica Bilka receives award for dissertation research
The Western History Association recognized history faculty Monica Bilka with the Walter Rundell Award for Dissertation Research in October of 2014. The title of her dissertation is “When we heal the land, we heal the people”: Klamath Tribal Empowerment through Natural Resources Management, 1960-2014.

Lara Bruner recognized for teaching excellence in psychology
Lara Bruner was one of three high school psychology teachers honored with the 2014 Excellence in Teaching Award by the American Psychological Association’s Committee of Teachers of Psychology in Secondary Schools (TOPSS). Bruner was recognized for her student-centered teaching style that encourages students to think about psychology outside of their own lives.

Si Se Puede Foundation honor three at CGCC for leadership, education and appreciation
The Si Se Puede Foundation recognized Chandler-Gilbert Community College Service-Learning Coordinator Alex Cannell with an Appreciation Award in March 2015 as well as President Linda Lujan with the Leadership Award and mathematics faculty Pam Woodbury as an Educator of the Year Honoree in April 2015. Read more.
Training faculty to better serve veterans leads to foundation employee recognition award

The Maricopa Community Colleges Foundation recognized English faculty Miguel Fernadez with the 2015 Employee Recognition Award for his outstanding contributions to the District’s mission. Fernandez, who is a faculty liaison for veterans as well as a co-sponsor of the Chandler-Gilbert Community College chapter of the Student Veterans Organization (SVO), spent his sabbatical semester (Fall 2014) researching and developing an online training program to assist faculty members in understanding and dealing with student veterans. Working closely with the SVO, the result was “Toolkit for Training Faculty to Best Serve Student Veterans.” Read more.

Margie Gomez, Gail Haase and Yanci Murphy, Outstanding Adjunct Faculty Members, MCCCD Adjunct Faculty Association

The District’s Adjunct Faculty Association has given Outstanding Adjunct Faculty Awards to Margie Gomez, Gail Haase and Yanci Murphy. The award is provided to those who complete an assessment process that includes an evaluation of their performance on criteria in five areas: pedagogy, assessment, enrichment, development and professionalism as well as forward at least two letters of recommendation. (At least one from the department chair, dean, or vice president of Academic Affairs and one or more additional recommendations from residential faculty, adjunct faculty or students.)

Joshua Gottry receives ASCAP Plus Award

The American Society of Composers, Authors and Publishers (ASCAP) selected Joshua Gottry as an ASCAP Plus Award recipient for his music composition and works performed in 2013. Gottry first received an ASCAP Young Composer Award in 1995 and has been selected every year since 2001 for the ASCAP Plus Award.

Ron Keller awarded two ariZoni theatre awards
Over the last two seasons, Ron Keller, technical director and scenic designer for the CGCC Arnette Scott Ward Performing Arts Center has been nominated for six and received two ariZoni Awards for theatrical design for shows produced by our performing arts department. His last award was for property design for The Bold, the Young and the Murdered in the fall 2014. Marc Denton was nominated for Best Musical Direction of a Musical and Sally Jesse was nominated for Best Stage Direction for CGCC’s production of Seussical.

Bernadette La Mazza, Pandora Festival of New Works
Bernadette La Mazza won the 2015 Pandora Festival of New Works for her full-length comedy “Vegetal Salvaje,” a play about a vegetarian cooking show pilot hosted by aging telenovela stars, a sports announcer, a washed up B-movie actor turned exercise promoter and a model.

Vanessa Sandoval, Service-Learning Faculty of the Year
Communications faculty Vanessa Sandoval received the CGCC 2015 Service-Learning Faculty of the Year award recognizing her for her excellent work in service-learning. Vanessa incorporated Into the Streets and several class projects in her courses this year, including the Then They Came For Us... exhibit and World War II-era rail car from East Valley Jewish Community Center.

Linda Shaw and Ted Wolter selected for educator and employee of the year
Linda Shaw and Ted Wolter were selected as the Chandler-Gilbert Community College (CGCC) Staff Employee of the Year and Educator of the Year for the 19th annual Gilbert Community Excellence Awards. As the founding art faculty, Wolter shaped the art program from its inception, mentored new art faculty as they joined the college, and shepherded the program through growth and change. Director of Admissions, Registration and Records Linda Shaw is known for her extensive knowledge and focus on student service and is a valuable resource who willingly serves on a variety of local and district-wide committees benefitting hundreds of thousands of students. Read more.
Diane Travers Shipman, Second Distinguished Toastmasters Award

Diane Travers Shipman was awarded her second Distinguished Toastmasters Award (DTM) in May 2015, the highest accomplishment possible in Toastmasters. Travers achieved her first DTM in June 2010. Travers’ home club is the Power Play Toastmasters. In September 2012, she secured approval to allow the club to meet weekly on campus every Thursday. The group has open meetings allowing students who are interested to participate. To date, more than 700 students have attended a Power Play Toastmasters meeting and multiple other students have attended additional Toastmaster meetings.

Jill Wendt, Service-Learning Lifetime Achievement Award

Jill Wendt received the Service-Learning Lifetime Achievement Award recognizing her for her commitment to service-learning during her time teaching at CGCC. Dr. Wendt has taught at CGCC for seven years and has incorporated a service-learning component in her courses each semester. She has been involved with Into the Streets, numerous class projects, and individual placements.

Karen Wellner was a selected participant for a National Science Foundation three-year project: GEOCACHE (Geospatial Connections Promoting Advancement to Careers and Higher Education). The collaborative project between Mesa Community College and Northern Arizona University is designed to facilitate the development of career and educational pathways in geospatial technologies (GST).

Tracy Liz Miller and producing partner Brenda Jean Foley successfully pitched a proposal at the Arizona Commission on the Arts ArtTank East event. They were awarded $6,000 in seed-funding to launch The Bridge Initiative: Women in Arizona Theatre that will address the gender disparity in the theatre community of the state and hopefully help towards the national conversation. The inaugural Symposium will take place June 2015 at the Mesa Encore Theatre’s Black Box on Brown.

Vivian Miranda, director of Student Success, and CGCC Male Empowerment Network chapter advisors Tony Little and Jill Wendt were awarded at $30,000 grant from the Maricopa Center for Learning and Instruction and the State of Arizona to coordinate and host a summer STEM bootcamp.

Jill Wendt and Wanda Tucker (Rio Salado Community College) were awarded a $8,000 2015-16 Learning Grant for Mar“Learnshops I and II - Underrepresented Males of Color: What Faculty Must Know!”

Diane Elarde is a contributing writer for two Chicken Soup for the Soul books: Hope and Miracles and Thanks to My Mom. She is also now a feature writer for the publication Thrive, a publication found in 100 locations around the world which helps the homeless. In February, she spoke to more than 200 people on “Emotional Intelligence and the Workplace” at the Mesa Community College Performing Arts Center as part of their evening lecture series.

Miguel Fernandez published “Toolkit for Training Faculty to Best Serve Student Veterans” in January 2015. He also was the executive producer of a documentary film, “From War to Wisdom” (directors: Josh Hisle and Daniel Collins) in May 2015. He made the following presentations:

- “Defusing Tension, Conflict, and Misunderstandings in the Classroom” at the Spring 2015 Maricopa Community Colleges Adjunct Faculty Day of Learning Conference in Phoenix, AZ. on Jan. 10, 2015:
  - “Defusing Tension, Conflict, and Misunderstandings in the Classroom with student veterans” at 2015 NASPA Veterans Conference in Louisville KY. on Feb. 8, 2015
  - “Working with the Military Connected student in the classroom” at the 12th Annual Teaching Professor Conference in Atlanta, GA on May 29, 2015 from Oct. 14 to May 15

David Finley, will be a visiting scholar in Renaissance and early Modern Studies at the American Academy in Rome, Italy over the summer. His research will focus on the works of Michelangelo and will be twofold: 1) enhancing his background in the visual arts and developing the possible connections to a STEM or STEAM curriculum for humanities classes and future faculty development as well as 2) researching his poetry, letters, and biographies for a sense of his feelings and self-perception about the difficulties of writing and the writing process to use with apprehensive writing students.

Josh Gottry had six new percussion compositions published in the catalog of C. Alan Publications, including “Woodwork” for marimba quartet and cajon which was commissioned and premiered by the Northern Arizona University Percussion Ensemble in Spring 2014. He was presented a cajon clinic for the Arizona Percussive Arts Society Day of Percussion in Spring 2015.

Linda Lujan co-presented the closing plenary at the American College and University Presidents’ Climate Commitment 2014 Presidential Summit on Climate Leadership in Boston, Mass. as well as co-presented on Sustainability and the Completion Agenda at the American Association for Community Colleges Annual Conference in San Antonio, Texas.

Bassam Matar’s article “Faculty Professional Development for the NextGeneration Reconfigurable Electronics Workforce” was published in the January 2015 issue of the Journal of Technology, Management and Applied Engineering. Additional authors include: Dr. Nasser Alaraje, Dr. Aleksandr Sergeyev, Dr. John Reutte and Mr. Craig Kief.

Nicholas Mowad’s article titled “The Purest Inequality: Hegel’s Critique of the Labor Contract and Capitalism” will be published as chapter four in Hegel and Capitalism, edited by Andrew Buchwalter and published by the State University of New York Press.
Roy Pope’s photograph “Kokopelli” was part of the Light Sensitive 2015 gallery show at Art Intersection. His photo “Cemetery, Ireland” was nominated for the international competition The Black and White Spider Awards in the architectural category. Singer and songwriter Amy Black’s video “Layin’ It Down” featured his photography.

Amanda Roberson self-published her first book Dear God, Bless This Mess and is making regular contributions to the blog of the same name.

Ana Jarvis receives emeritus distinction

Ana Jarvis, CGCC Spanish faculty, was honored with emeritus distinction at the Maricopa County Community College District governing board meeting on Tuesday, Sept. 23. Jarvis was nominated by Virginia Edwards, division chair of Modern Languages and Humanities, and Spanish faculty Cynthia Bingham.

Jarvis was one of the first instructors hired at CGCC when it was still an educational center of Mesa Community College in 1987, and she was CGCC’s first Spanish faculty. During those early years when CGCC was emerging as an accredited institution, Jarvis taught a variety of Spanish classes and worked on developing a strong foreign language program. As the years went by, other languages were added to the department. She was instrumental in starting CGCC’s Spanish honor society, Sigma Delta Mu, and an annual Foreign Language Night. For many years she helped plan International Student Week activities with CGCC’s International Student Office.

Jarvis was a key contributor to CGCC’s Marketing Committee and the International/Intercultural Education Committee. She is a gifted and prolific author whose “Como Se Dice” books are used by colleges and universities locally and nationally.

Edwards and Bingham note in the nomination, “Most of all, Ana has been a strong advocate for her students and her profession. She is known for mentoring and tutoring students and for introducing the beauty of the Spanish language and culture to thousands over the years. She has a sharp wit and a great sense of humor. She will be fondly remembered for her valiant resistance to the onslaught of technology, defiantly tapping on her typewriter long after those around her converted to computers, email, and online student information systems. She will be remembered as a dear friend and supportive colleague to many faculty and staff at CGCC.”
