A MARICOPA COMMUNITY COLLEGE

The program, which began in 1998, started when a small group of Sun Lakes residents and Chandler-Gilbert Community College (CGCC) saw a need for a program for seniors who value lifelong learning.

It's run entirely by volunteers and supported by CGCC, providing seniors access to dozens of classes every spring, summer, and fall.

Topics include everything from military history, health and genealogy to laws and current events. Best of all, you can take as many classes as you'd like for a low annual membership fee of $60 that goes to the New Adventurers in Learning (NAL) organization, plus a $20 fee each semester.
