

The Works Cited page is a list of all the sources cited in your paper.

Center the title "Works Cited" without underlining, bolding, or italicizing it. If there is only one entry, title this page "Work Cited."

MLA now requires URLs (when possible) when citing online sources. Don't include "https://" when providing a URL. The date of access is optional, but be sure to include it whenever possible, since online works can be changed or removed at any time.

When possible, use the doi # instead of the URL for articles in a database.

MLA now requires only the publisher and not the city of publication. The 8th edition also does not require sources to have a publication marker (such as "Print" or "Web").

Twitter handles are alphabetized by the first letter of the handle; the @ symbol is ignored.

List the title of the source in quotation marks and the title of the container in italics, followed by a comma and the date of publication. If it is an online source, include the URL and date of access.
